ONE TAB PER WORKER

01

Every worker gets a tab.

One tab for each person on the crew, the way the old spreadsheet had one sheet each. Tap a name and their payslip is right there.

02

THE WEEK'S TRIPS

One line for every delivery.

Date, town, rate. Add a line for each trip of the week and a coordinator rate at the end if there is one.

04

Six trips still fit on one slip.

The payslip is locked to 5 × 7 inches, the size of the paper they are issued on. The type sets itself so a full week never spills onto a second page.

PAYSLIP HISTORY

Print once. Reprint anytime.

Every printed slip stays under the worker's own tab. Open an old one to look at it, or send it to the printer again exactly as it was.

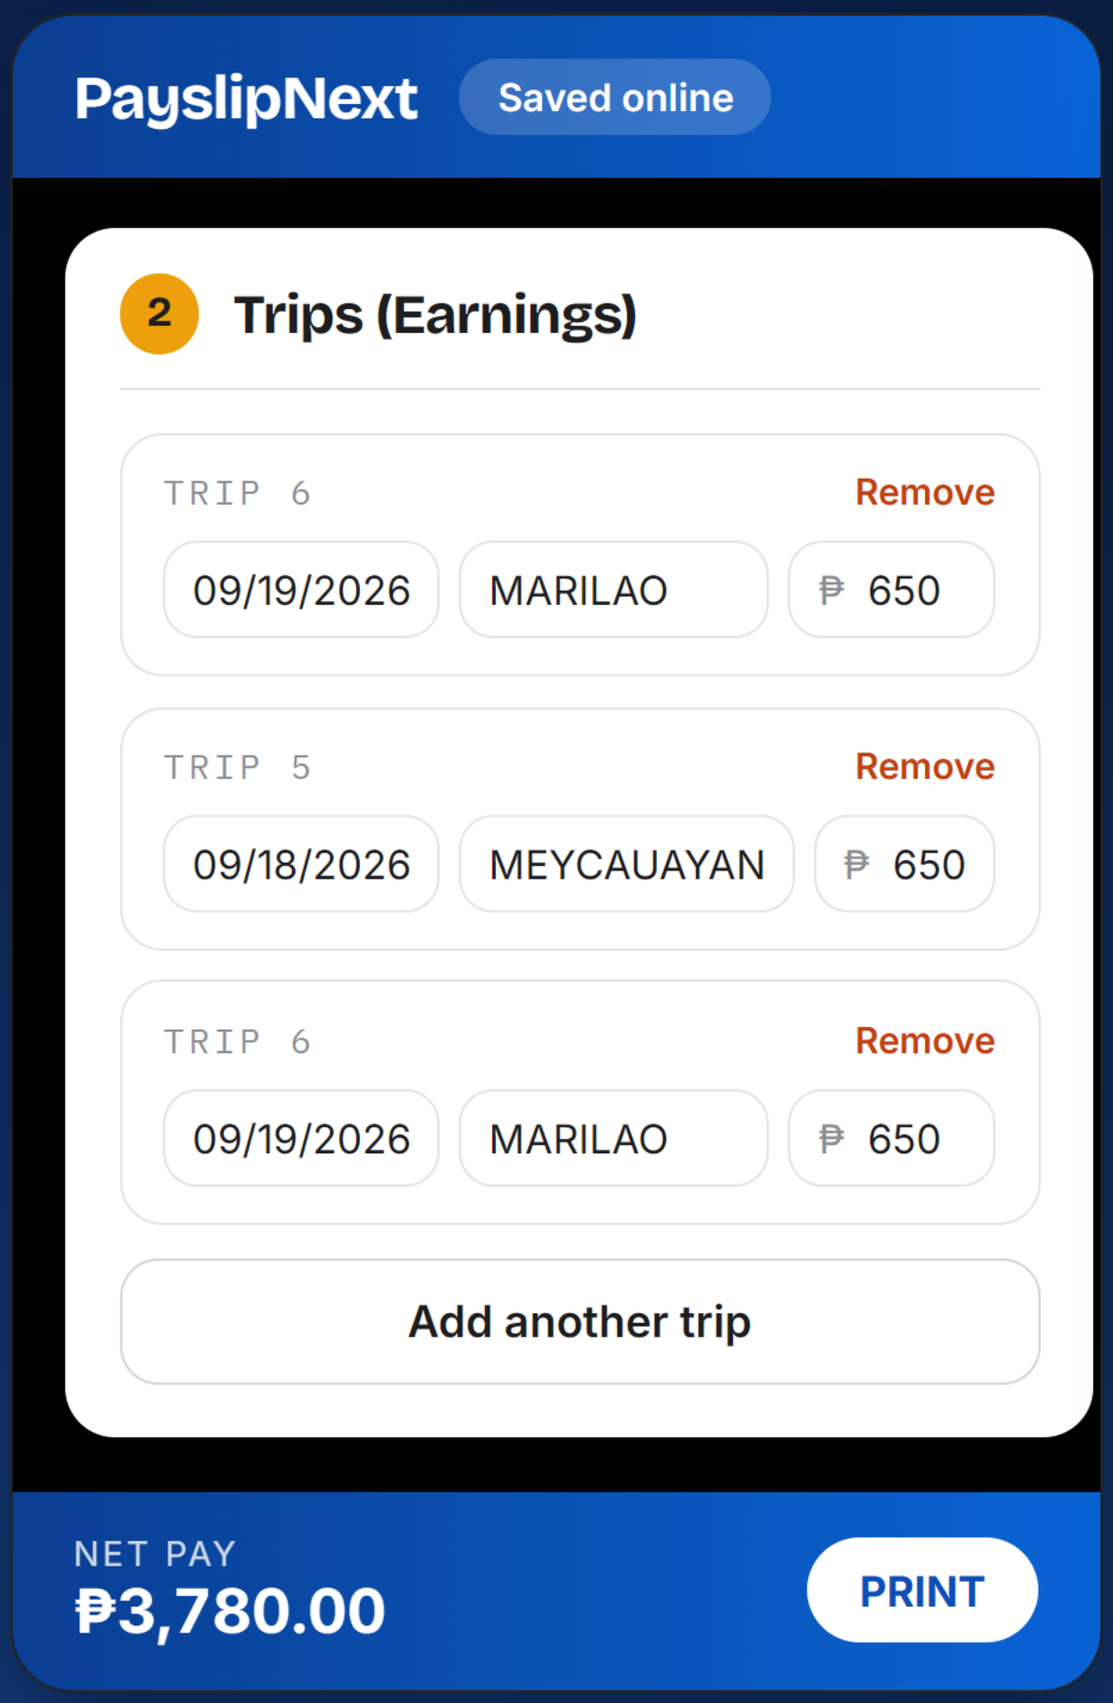

08

EVERY COMPUTER

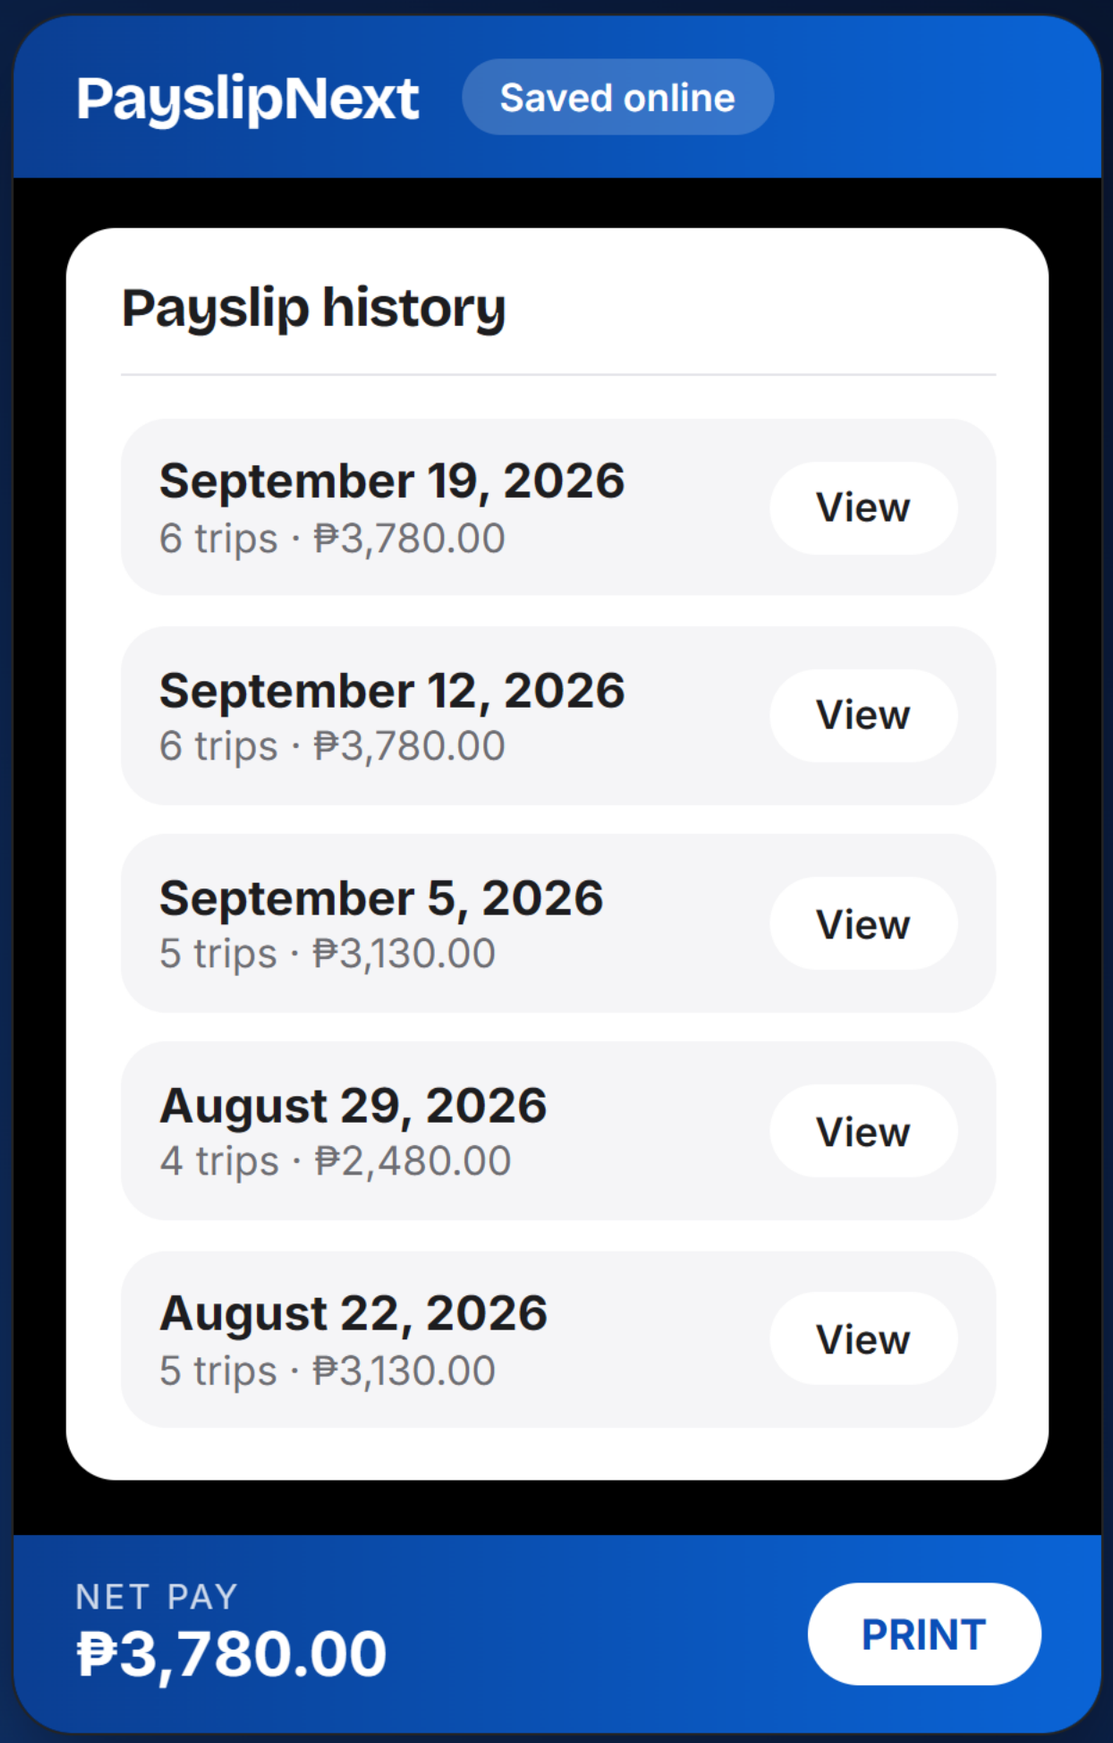

Typed at home. Open at the office.

Payslips are kept online as well as on the computer that made them, so the same records open wherever the work is being done.

09

WORKS OFFLINE

No internet?
It still prints.

The payslip is made on the computer itself. When the line drops the work carries on, and the records go online again as soon as it comes back.

RECORDS AND BACKUP

Every payslip, in Excel.

The whole year downloads as one spreadsheet for the accountant, with a backup file alongside it that puts everything back if a computer is replaced.

BUILT FOR THE PERSON USING IT

Big buttons.
Plain words.

Four numbered steps, one job each, and nothing to set up. Adding a new hire is one tab and two boxes.

Payroll, off the spreadsheet.

Custom software, built once for the way one business already pays its people. No subscription, no per-user fees, nothing to install.
